Louise Burns has been working at CKUT doing Sales & Admin for 22 years. Tim Beeler has hopped around in various positions at CKUT for about 3 years. Louise likes to tell expansive stories in very short pieces of time. In previous lives she was in an art/punk band, made weird movies and raised a kid. Tim Beeler walked out of the peaceful fields of Vermont with his guitar to attend McGill University and dove into campus community radio chaos. He sat on CKUT's board the year that included the student strike (red square movement) and an occupation of the McGill administration building (because CKUT's referendum results were not accepted by the administration). He also played a whole lot of music in a number of bands and put on a whole lot of shows

CKUT's Total Eclipse music series is 3 nights of concerts curated by a different CKUT radio show to give a sample of the diversity of programming at CKUT and to promote the wonderful music blog which we fondly call Total Eclipse (music.ckut.ca). Thanks to a grant from the Canadian Radio Fund of Canada we are also releasing a compilation of some of the bands that have played live on our airwaves. Burns and Beeler were allowed to let loose during the production of the radio spot – and so they did. CKUT is also taking radio promotion to the next level by making videos that accompany these ads.
