CFUV-FM Victoria, BC – Produced by Janet Rogers – “Native Waves”

Bio: Janet Marie Rogers is a Mohawk/Tuscarora writer from the Six Nations band in southern Ontario. She was born in Vancouver, B.C. and has been living on the traditional lands of the Coast Salish people (Victoria, B.C.) since 1994. Janet works in the genres of poetry, short fiction, spoken word performance poetry, video poetry and recorded poems with music and script writing. She is the Poet Laureate for Victoria (2012-2015).

About Native Waves: Native Waves Radio, with Mohawk host Janet Rogers is broadcast from the traditional territory of the Coast and Straights Salish people since 2007. Although primarily an Indigenous arts focused program, the host realizes all things Indigenous over-lap one another thus the music reflects the politics, the exhibitions are cultural, the interviews talk about territory and the guests reflect on language revitalization. Native Waves Radio endeavours to represent local Indigenous matters while creating a place for global issues to have their say. "Borders? What borders?"

Native Waves Radio is proud to be part of the CFUV radio family with the opportunity to be one of two radio programs offered from Vancouver Island.
